

Michelle Rhee Driven by the News Media

This publication is concerned with the sometimes underrated D.C. Public School System. The former Mayor of the District of Columbia, Adrian Fenty appointed Michelle Rhee as the Chancellor of the District of Columbia school system. With little or no experience(s), she took control of a school system that had produced outstanding national and local leaders. This is a predominately Black School System that is controlled by congress, without an elected school board. The citizens of Washington, D.C. do not have a vote in either the House of Representatives or the United States Senate. The President of the United States is beginning to understand the plight of the District of Columbia education. Arne Duncan the Secretary of Education apparently is not aware of what has happened in the city. He just hired Victor Reinoso as a high power consultant for the Department of Education. He was guilty of Plagiarism. He copied the Charlotte Mecklenburg Plan for the District of Columbia school system. At this point, we dont have congressional leaders who would condemn these types of action, or would fight for the city of Washington, D.C. to have the financial resources, equal rights and responsibilities for the school system. Michelle Rhee used an overnight evaluation process named Impact to evaluate teachers. When implemented, Impact was still being written, and not completed. The process was not field tested. Shortly after this a massive firing took place in the D.C. school system. In addition, she refused to make herself available to the Afro-American Segment of the community. Nevertheless, she must have thought that the mayor would shield her from any adverse action. In the opinion of this author, she had absolute power. However, the citizens of Washington, D.C. voted the mayor out of office and Michelle Rhee went packing with him. As you read this publication, you will see how Michelle Rhee wrecked the lives of many good educators fully qualified. Financial hardships and disappointments were massive. For examples, she removed 266 teachers, 241 teachers and another 75 teachers. In addition, she had another massive firing of principals, educational administrators and other office personnel. These and other actions that I discussed in the publication concerning Michelle Rhee and the Mass Media would only examine only one view, the view of Michelle Rhee. Some of the unproductive methods she used were: She dragged out union contract negotiations, She removed excellent teachers and principals without any explanations, She removed 266 teachers, and stated they had sex with students, abused student, but she was unable to prove her assertions. When she was teaching, she taped the students lips to keep students them from talking. When the students removed the tape, their lips were bleeding. She used this in a workshop for new teachers. Finally, as you read this publication, you will see examples of how she abused the educational system, the administrators, the teachers, the students and most of all the community. The electronic and print media just stood on the sideline and her negative ideas were driven by the News Media.
